Global markets continued upward in February as progress in trade talks between the US and China turned investor sentiment positive. Equity markets were positive around the globe, led by small caps, technology and industrials. Interest rates in the US only advanced slightly and the US Dollar was mixed against other currencies, appreciating against the Japanese Yen and the Euro, while depreciating versus the British Pound. Commodities posted gains, especially within energy and metals.

The portfolio ended in positive territory with fundamental strategies driving portfolio returns. Long/Short Equity and Relative Value were among the largest contributors as the vast majority of the managers were positive for the month. The Event Driven allocation was also positive across different regions. CTAs deducted, albeit marginally, with mixed results across different strategy sub-styles.

Disclaimer

* The NAV of the latest month alone is an estimate. The final NAV will be communicated separately once determined. Please note the above NAV estimate is after estimated costs and fees. This valuation, which has been prepared in good faith by the Company's Administrator and Investment Adviser, is for information purposes only and is based on the unaudited estimated valuations supplied to the Company's Investment Adviser by investee funds, their managers, investment advisers or administrators. When finally determined, the actual month end Net Asset Value may therefore be materially different from this estimated value. Accordingly, no reliance should be placed on such estimated Net Asset Value and it should only be taken as an indicative guide.
