Monthly report - September 2021

September saw two major macro developments: rising concerns about the Chinese real estate market, as the second largest developer Evergrande neared default, and a hawkish shift in G10 central bank tone. This backdrop led to a sell-off in all equity sectors except for energy. Global yields on long-term bonds increased while the US dollar appreciated against major currencies. Commodities continued their upward trend, led by soaring energy prices, while precious metals traded lower.

The portfolio ended in positive territory as most styles were profitable. The largest contribution stems from the Long/Short Equity allocation, where results were mixed, while Asia and energy focused managers posted solid returns. Event Driven strategies contributed positively as well. Within systematic managers, Quantitative Equity and Macro approaches were profitable in aggregate while Trend-Following detracted, albeit marginally. Relative Value strategies had mixed results and slightly detracted from portfolio performance.

Style allocation as of 30 September 2021 (22 Holdings)

The allocations above take into account that a single underlying investment can have exposure to multiple styles and have фearned to reflect underlying fund investments only.
